EMH Feather-Care

Concentraten

Skin and feather care spray

The skin and feathers reflect the general health of your chickens. Many chickens and other types of poultry tend to pluck their feathers or suffer from itching and wounds that do not heal properly. EMH Feather-Care, with its effective micro-organisms, solves this problem. Harmful bacteria and fungi are denied breeding grounds, which in turn promotes healthy, resistant skin. Beneficial micro-organisms feed on and convert the ‘waste materials’ on the skin. The skin and feathers are gently nurtured. EMH Feather-Care effectively supports the healing process and fast regeneration of the skin.

Aanbevolen voeder:

Daily treatment by spraying or sponging on the solution builds up a sustainable protective film. The skin becomes more resistant to external factors and the feathers take on a silky sheen.

Spray daily onto dry wounds and skin irritations.
